

A large grid-based map template on aged paper. The grid is defined by four vertical columns labeled 1, 2, 3, and 4 at the top and bottom, and four horizontal rows labeled A, B, C, and D on the left and right sides. A fifth horizontal line is present at the bottom, labeled A. The grid is overlaid with a network of thin, light-colored lines radiating from the center of each of the four corners. At the intersection of each vertical and horizontal line, there is a white diamond-shaped cutout. A decorative border with small icons runs along the edges of the grid. A decorative banner is at the top center.

1 2 3 4

A horizontal strip at the bottom of the page, possibly a ruler or scale. It features six vertical lines with small decorative finials at the top. Below these lines are the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6. The strip is decorated with ornate scrollwork at the ends.

